LABOR. UNIONS LIKE BLACK BASS.

Bad Habit of Devouring One Another.

Gompers Fears Bloody War Will Come.

Says They Must Change Methods to Avoid Fighting Behind Barricades.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.) NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—President Samuel Gompers at the opening of the American Federation of Labor today delivered an impassioned warning to the members of the organization that the immediate future of trade and labor assemblies was seriously endangered by the conflicting claims of jurisdiction made by different bodies. Unless such things were fixed in calmness and handled with moderation, he declared, the labor organizations of the country would soon be involved in a conflict which would by comparison dwarf all the struggles in which labor organizations have been so far involved. The matter would, unless checked, he asserted, come to a point where laboring men would fight with laboring men from behind barricades in the manner in which men dealt with their mortal enemies. His warning of danger and his counsel of peace and moderation met with a hearty response from the assembled delegates, and wild applause greeted the speaker as he closed that portion of his annual address in which he had pointed out the perils which, in his opinion, will surely come unless present methods are altered and altered soon.

REVIEWS MINERS' STRIKE. President Gompers reviewed the causes and progress of the anthracite miners' strike, and in the course of his remarks said that the strike was "one of the remarkable yet consistent features of the contest was the attitude assumed by the mine owners in their own efforts to break the strike, and their declaration that divine providence had placed in their possession the properties and that they would take care for the welfare of their employees than the agitators."

GETS AFTER ELIOT. After the convention had been called to order, President Lee of the New Orleans organization, delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the laboring men of New Orleans. He closed with a warm tribute to President Gompers, personally, declaring that the members of the federation would follow him to the end.

DEAD HEARTS CAN BEAT. Prof. Loeb Declares Prof. Lyons Demonstrated the Paradox.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new discovery in relation to the prolonging of human life has just been announced by Prof. Jacques Loeb of the University of Chicago. While preparing to take a position at the University of California, Prof. Loeb and his corps of scientists have shed new light on the problem which has occupied biologists for years. The salt-and-water "elixir of life" discovered by Dr. Loeb, two years ago, to be efficient in making turtles' hearts beat again with rhythmic throbs, has been found to be a powerful restorative for dying mammals, and the scientist is a step nearer toward the goal of prolonging human life indefinitely.

Experiments, of which Dr. Loeb told his class today, were made by Assistant Prof. Lyons in the laboratory at the university. While Dr. Lyons' experiments were carried on with the idea of ascertaining the properties of solutions of sodium and calcium as a life restorer, the announcements made by the Russian specialist some time ago regarding the experiments made with the heart of a dead child are said to have been the immediate motive.

Dr. Lyons began his experiments with the lowest forms of mammal life, mice, then dogs and cats. Taking the animals kept in the University of Chicago laboratory for experiment, he gave them such treatment as would bring them to such a condition that life was practically extinct. Then, by injections of the sodium-and-calcium solutions into the veins of the failing animals, he was able to restore for varying periods of time the heart beat in its normal rhythm and strength.

INTERNAL TROUBLES. "No combination of labor's enemies need cause us the apprehension in the claims made by unions for the extension of their trade jurisdiction."

"There is scarcely an affiliated organization which is not engaged in a league with another organization in some cases with several organizations upon the question of jurisdiction. It is not an uncommon occurrence for an organization, and several have done so quite recently, to change their laws and status to jurisdiction as to trade jurisdiction, and to be templated by the organization's officers or members; never comprehended by their title; trades of which there is already existence; a national union. And this without a word of advice, counsel or warning."

"Without in any way being desirous of influencing your judgment upon any one of the issues which claim your attention, it is strongly urged that action be taken by this convention which shall tend to check the discrimination attempts made to extend jurisdiction of any organization without the sanction of a special committee of the trade already in existence."

EIGHT-HOUR BILL. President Gompers urged "unremitting efforts to secure the enactment of the eight-hour bill, now before Congress, and to recommend the appointment of a special committee to investigate the subject of the eight-hour work day for all wage-earners in the United States."

CHINESE EXCLUSION. President Gompers discussed the subject of Chinese exclusion at considerable length. He said: "It was clearly evident that there was some ulterior purpose on the part of those in control of the law who had introduced the law as passed should not be an entirely satisfactory one to labor."

"After reviewing the entire subject it is clear to my mind and it is the opinion of the majority of the committee that the law as passed should not be an entirely satisfactory one to labor."

"The Chinese subjects of Great Britain, citizens of the republic of Mexico and perhaps those who pretend to be the subjects or citizens of either may come to the United States at will, that the courts will hold should a test case be made."

"That Chinese can be excluded only by sympathetic administrative action of local authorities."

"That the question should be reopened by Congress and an effective, comprehensive law enacted."

we are favored with only a few sporadic displays. Four times in the last nine centuries the earth has encountered a great cluster of meteors and received a brilliant shower in the second year of the century. Will it meet such a cluster, and be visited by such a shower next Saturday morning? Prof. Pickering of Harvard University thinks such an encounter more than probable, but as he bases his opinion upon the facts here adduced, and upon some other which are too technical to discuss in this article, he cannot speak with any greater degree of positiveness than the rest of us, who reason from the same data.

LOCATING THE RADIANT.
The radiant of the Leonid meteors is within the curve of the Scythe, a beautiful group of stars in the constellation Leo, with the bright star Regulus in the handle. The Scythe may readily be found by projecting a line from the pointers of the dipper in the direction opposite from the North Star. The meteors whose observed paths begin at or very near the radiant, have short paths, while those which apparently start at a considerable distance from the radiant have long, brilliant courses, and are often attended by trains resembling the tails of comets, which remain visible for several seconds, and even minutes.

The cut shows the comparative size of the earth's tiny orbit and that traversed by Tempel's comet, and its attendant train of Leonid meteors. The earth travels in one year round a circle whose diameter is 186,000,000 miles; the comet's eccentric path describes an immense ellipse, whose aphelion is 2,000,000,000 miles from the sun, and it takes thirty-three and a half years to accomplish its mighty journey. As it recedes from the sun it moves slower and slower, till it loiters at the slow pace of four miles a second beyond the orbit of Uranus. Returning toward the sun it rushes forward with constantly accelerated speed, till it dashes across the orbit of the earth with the tremendous velocity of twenty-six miles a second.

VELOCITY OF METEORS.
It will be seen in the cut that while the comet and meteors move from left to right, like the hands of a clock, the earth moves in her orbit in the opposite direction to meet them, and therefore the meteors enter the atmosphere with the combined velocity of both movements—the meteors twenty-six miles a second, and the earth eighteen miles a second—their sum producing the almost unimaginable velocity of forty-four miles between the ticks of a clock. Thus we account for that sudden and brilliant streak of light. The condensation of the atmosphere and the abrasion of its particles heat the meteor, perhaps no larger than a bean or a walnut, instantly transform it to a volume of fiercely blazing vapor as large as an orange or a melon, the intense cold of the upper air quickly extinguishes the flaming gas, and the resulting invisible powder slowly settles to the ground.

It first becomes luminous at a height of from seventy to eighty miles, and is entirely consumed before it reaches a depth of forty miles above the earth's surface. Thus the minute attendant of Tempel's comet, which has been traversing its vast orbit for ages and ages, swinging from the sun to Uranus, and from Uranus to the sun like a mighty pendulum, suddenly flashes into our atmosphere, and the fatal termination of its long, uneventful career is gloriously signalled by the brilliant but evanescent flames of its own funeral torch.

METEORS SEEN LAST YEAR.
Whatever the exhibition vouchsafed to us next Saturday morning, it will be attended by one serious drawback—the moon will be at its full, and in mid-heavens, consequently the faint meteors will be obscured, and the larger ones shorn of much of their splendor. Last year there was no moon, and the sky was cloudless, affording ideal conditions for observation. Prof. Brackett of Pomona College, aided by his students, counted 149 meteors, the major portion coming between 4 and 5 a.m. Prof. Larkin at the Lowe Observatory alone counted upward of 400. Prof. Baumgardt and his son, in the southern part of this city, counted nearly 400 after 4 a.m. From the top of the hill on Grand avenue I counted 100 meteors in the sixteen minutes between 4:04 and 4:20 a.m. We all felt rewarded for our vigil, but we make no positive promises for next Saturday morning.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.
A CURE FOR ALL.
Not a Patent Cure-all, nor a Modern Miracle, but Simply a Rational Cure For Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of the famous "Dyspepsia Tablets" have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim, and that is, that their tablets will cure every case of dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go deeper than any other remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles, and they are the only tablets that will cure every case of dyspepsia and stomach troubles.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest and most delicate stomachs. The great secret in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are so wisely combined that they do not irritate the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rectifies the overworked organ and regulates the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the strength which always accompanies a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and rectifying the stomach which regulates its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Parasites Cause All Hair Troubles.
Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp and hair are caused by parasite germs. The importance of this discovery by Prof. F. C. of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, cannot be overestimated. It is the only ordinary hair preparation, even of the most expensive character, that will cure dandruff, because it not only kills and drives out the dandruff germ. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the dandruff germ, that kills and drives out the dandruff germ, that kills and drives out the dandruff germ, that kills and drives out the dandruff germ.

DOCTOR HARRISON TREATS MEN'S DISEASES ONLY.

17 Years a Specialist—9 Years in Los Angeles.

Office Entire Second Floor 112 Main St. Just North of First.

I originated what may be termed the painless treatment for the absolute cure of MEN'S DISEASES, and I am the specialist best qualified to take any curable case and give satisfactory results.

My far-reaching reputation as the indisputable Master of Men's Diseases should guide you in placing yourself under my care. Remember my reputation has been founded on producing cures and not in producing promises of cures.

Weakness Succumbs to My Treatment.

The safest, surest quickness, and consequently cheapest treatment that any weak man can take is the treatment that I have absolutely perfected during my seventeen years of continuous practice. Vigorous health is the greatest blessing that a young or middle-aged man can possess, and my treatment is the medium through which the weaker can best be benefited. Through a man may possess strength of mind and strength of character, he is not the ideal man unless he possesses the strength of manhood. Weakness occasionally results from nervous overwork, but generally it is a condition arising from varicose, enlarged and inflamed prostate, adeno, or other urinary disorders.

Stricture.
Stricture in its various distressing forms, readily responds to the original painless mode of treatment that I solely employ. I use no knife in curing this painful condition. My treatment dissolves the stricture and leaves the urinary passage in a healthy state, at the same time it does away with all irritation and congestion of the kidneys and bladder.

Contracted Disorders.
In these cases my treatment affords instant relief even in the severest cases and a permanent cure is effected in a short time.

Contagious Blood Poison.
The day has gone by for this disease to be looked upon as "incurable." I have an original and sure treatment which I use in the severest cases that is absolutely sure of eradicating every vestige of this fearful blood disorder. I do not countenance the use of poisonous mineral drugs or any of the other powerful drugs, as their after-effects throughout the life are almost as detrimental to a man's health as the disease for which they will attempt to procure a cure.

Varicose and Results.
Any case of varicose which is left without proper treatment will, in time, result in complete loss of one-half of the vital power. Besides, there will be more or less sympathy with the affected side, often producing complete loss of vitality, to say nothing of its effect upon the circulation, nerve centers, dragging sensations and weary feeling produced. Varicose produces a large bunch of knotted and twisted veins on the left side. They can be readily distinguished by the fact. We only want our patients from 5 to 7 days to guarantee a radical and complete cure. We have been curing varicose since 1885, and we will show you cured cases in abundance if you are interested. Don't pay any money out on varicose until the doctor shows you the actual cured cases among Los Angeles' best citizens. We use no knife, ligature, caustic or electricity, but cure in one week, and no failures. Every man should have one of my boxes and colored plates. I send them free, in plain wrappers, to any address.

I cure Rupture, Piles and Fistula, and guarantee them to stay cured.

People say time, killing teeth is a matter of conscience with the dentist, because they have to depend upon him entirely—as to work—and the materials used. With me it is a matter of business. From preference I take the time to do good operating, using the best material—aided by the best time and pain saving appliances. I derive the most pleasure, and take the greatest pride in doing the best work. It proves to be the best business as patients return for more work when needed—and send their friends.

ASTOUNDING TESTIMONY.

Hearing of Frank Seppi, Wife-murderer.

Son Didn't Even Know Mother's Name.

Discussed Killing With Father and Thinks 'Twas Right. Hideous Case.

Dramatic in the extreme was the preliminary examination held in the little village of Norwalk yesterday of Frank Seppi, who slew his wife, Adelaide. Tuesday evening, October 28.

The features of the trial were as astounding as the crime was brutal, and there was presented the extraordinary spectacle of a fourteen-year-old son who knew not his mother's name, a sixteen-year-old son who thinks his mother was rightly executed by the father, who said to the first man he saw after committing his horrid crime, "Yes, I killed her, and—I am glad of it," and, lastly, a community that openly approves an atrocious murder. It is a strange, hideous case, that would be hard to parallel.

The first witness had not spoken five minutes when it was apparent that Frank Seppi must defend his life, and each further word of the testimony of the neighbors and children of the murdered woman only drew in grayer colors the sordid outlines of a horrible crime, that rivals in dull, unblinking ferocity the desperate acts of a hounded Zola peasant.

LIKE NIGHT AND DAY.

Indeed, both figures in the tragedy are natives of the Old World, but their natively placed them as far apart as the poles. The wife was a lively, vivacious Italian, and the husband is a phlegmatic, stolid and easy-going Austrian. Just working and existing was the sum total of the husband's ambition, and he thought his way should be his wife's way, too, and she, with her nervous temperament, thought his ease was neglect, and she flouted him, singing songs derisive of his people and of him, and because he was a little piqued, she began to tease and nag him. From a casual expedient to arouse the Austrian, the Italian made gooding him a habit, until it grew to mania, and when her cunning digs at last pierced his tough skin, he flew into a fury that culminated in an assault that left her partially blind. Then she brooded, forsook her husband's bed, included their children in her enmity, and systematically tortured them with her stinging tongue, until the evening of October 28.

"Yes, I Killed Her, and—I Am Glad of It," Said the Slayer.

For several days prior to the evening on which the tragedy occurred, Mrs. Seppi's vagaries had become more pronounced; she thought her husband, who never touched a card, was gambling, she thought he was entertaining other and younger women, and instead of appeasing her fears with the reason he did not have, the husband merely resented in silence, perforce. Seppi had set the wit for tenderness, regarded his wife's mania as he would the perversity of one of his cattle, and as he would have done with one of his cattle, calmly figured her worth to him, found it nil, and shot her.

According to the testimony of the oldest boy, father and son sat by the barn during the day and discussed the probability of having to kill her; think of it! They finished their work at dusk and went to the house. The mother was preparing supper. When they entered she began to sing in Italian a song of ridicule, and Seppi went to the storeroom and drank a glass of wine—perhaps he had then made up his mind to kill her and was nerving his arm for the deed. When he returned, Mrs. Seppi said, "Why don't you take three or four glasses more and get drunk?"

Seppi replied not a word, but stepped outside the door into the dark. He stayed there several minutes, and when he returned, he had a revolver in his hand and walked toward Mrs. Seppi with it. The three children ran outside and were peering through the windows in time to see the shot that killed their mother.

The husband was heard to say, "If you don't stop I will shoot," and the children saw their mother tear open the neck of her dress and heard her say, "Shoot away."

He did.

NEIGHBOR'S TESTIMONY.

In his testimony, A. W. Ellis, the first neighbor to reach the scene after the shooting, said:

"I was making cider and had a lantern lit when I heard a shot in the dooryard. I went on with my work for two or three minutes until Louis Seppi came and told me his father had shot his mother. I went over there and looked around to see if I could see Seppi. I saw nothing of Seppi then. I went into the kitchen and found Mrs. Seppi lying on her right side with her head to the west. Her pulse was beating, and I think she was breathing slightly."

"I called to Mrs. Seppi, using her name, but she didn't respond or show any signs of recognition, though her eyes were open."

"Seppi came to the door, and I asked him what he had done, saying, 'Seppi, in the name of goodness, what have you done?' and he said, 'I killed her.'"

"At this stage Seppi, who was listening, interestingly, smiled calmly at court and witness."

Ellis continued: "A moment later I spoke to him again, and he said, 'I killed her and I'm glad of it. I had to do it on account of my children. She deviled the life out of me. It had been going on a long time, and I couldn't stand it any longer.' I saw no weapon in his hand."

"Mrs. Seppi was lying with her feet about four feet from the cooking table. There were two butcher knives on that table, but no weapon on the floor or near the body."

"I told Seppi he had better change his clothes as he would have to go to town and he asked if I would go with him. I asked him for his gun and he handed it to me, remarking that it was loaded with the exception of one chamber and he had killed her with that. Then we went out in the yard while we waited for Constable Freeman and he reiterated several times what he had said before in the house."

Dr. J. P. Groover, who was the physician called, testified that Mrs. Seppi was dead when he arrived, and he described the course of the bullet which entered the base of the neck in front, ranged downward and made its exit under the left shoulder blade near the spine.

After the prosecution had called several unimportant corroborative witnesses the eyewitnesses of the tragedy were reached, and Louis Seppi, the eldest son, was placed on the stand.

Louis Seppi is 14 years old, chunky and heavy, and looks languidly out of sleepy brown eyes at a world that seems to interest him very little. He had the stolid expression of a battered man of the world and spoke of his mother's end in the impersonal way he might have mentioned an eclipse or a bad beet crop, and for the most part his testimony was given in carefully-considered monosyllables in response to direct questions, and his air of extreme unconcern was remarkable.

SON'S EVIDENCE.

When told to relate what occurred in his own way, Louis said:

"I was home on October 28, Virginia and Frank were there in the day. I was shucking corn with father at the barn. Mother was at home. She cooked dinner and supper."

"Frank and Virginia were at school. They came home about 4:30."

"We quit shucking corn and went to milking at 4 o'clock, and milked the seventeen cows until 6 o'clock. We went to the house about 6:15, as it was getting dark."

"I saw mother cooking steaks for supper. Two lamps were on the tables. 'Father came into the kitchen about ten minutes later. Virginia was helping cook. I sat down and father came in and sat down, then he went down to the storeroom and drank a glass of wine. When he came back mother said, 'Drink three or four more glasses looking through the window. I don't remember where Frank was. That was all I heard said."

SUNDAY QUARREL.

"When asked about a quarrel that occurred Sunday evening preceding the shooting, the boy said:

"I heard the conversation Sunday evening. It was in the bedroom about 7 o'clock. My brother and sister were there in bed. One light was burning in mother's bedroom adjoining, and the door was open."

"Father had some money. He had been trying to buy some horses. She thought he was gambling or something like that and wanted it. He gave it to her. She sat in a rocking chair and father went to bed; he wouldn't say anything to her. She was trying to raise a quarrel and kept talking about the trouble that occurred before. She wouldn't let him go to sleep. He never said much to her—just let her go on by herself until about 10 o'clock, then I went to sleep."

"Everything was all right the next day until night. She took a knife to bed with her, and never said anything to him. He went to bed before she did; they didn't sleep together since that other trouble two years ago—they slept in separate rooms."

"She took father's knife out of father's pants, while he was in bed, and put it behind her pillow. He didn't know she had it."

"Did your father tell you anything about the relations between them?" asked one of the attorneys for the defense.

"He said he couldn't be bothered to death any more like he had been while we were shucking corn. He said he had stood it long enough, sitting up till 10 or 11 o'clock and couldn't sleep, and shed make him mad and he'd either leave her or do something. He said he'd tried to get her to divide up and he'd have to—his hands on her some while you were at it and get drunk. She was cooking, and she knew he was kind of mad."

"She began to sing as he went outside, then he came into the house again in about three minutes. He came in with a pistol in his hand and raised it up to her."

"I went outside. There was talking in there. I heard him say to 'stop'; then I saw the flash of the pistol and then I went over to get Mr. Moore and Mr. Freeman and Mr. Ellis."

In response to questions Louis said further: "There were no words spoken before he left the kitchen. When he went back I heard him say it was time to stop. She said nothing then. She was going to get her garments in front. I didn't hear her say anything then, but before the shot, while I was outside, she said 'shoot away.' I was day, if she aggravated him much more, and finish her."

"Tuesday night mother was not just right. I never saw her drink, but she acted peculiar. She was singing in Italian while she was cooking around the stove. I don't know what song she was singing."

This about concluded Louis Seppi's testimony, and the evidence of the girl, Virginia, and the younger boy, Frank, was to the same effect, except that Frank thought his father said, "Stop, or I'll shoot." Instead of "It is time to stop," just before firing the fatal shot.

DIDN'T KNOW MOTHER'S NAME.

The entire courtroom was amazed when Frank Seppi said, "I don't know." In response to a question as to his mother's name. He was then asked, "Wasn't it Adelaide?" and quietly replied, "Something like that. I can't pronounce it."

At the conclusion of the girl, Virginia's evidence, Gen. Johnstone Jones announced that the prosecution rested, and Mr. Davis, for Davis & Rush of the defense, also rested without argument.

Justice P. E. Truitt immediately held Seppi to answer before the Superior Court without bonds.

SYMPATHY WITH SEPPi.

With the exception of a few women in the courtroom the sympathy of the whole community seemed to be with Seppi, and he held quite a levee before the court was convened and another at noon. Men, women and children shook hands and conversed with him with every evidence of friendliness, and his children were the only ones who held aloof, but those children seemed to care for nothing, and after the close of court the little girl returned to her uncle's home, and the two boys calmly started for their farm to do their evening chores, even waiting to see their parent start on his return to the County Jail.

If they are left orphans by the act of a jury of Seppi's peers it will make small difference to the three Seppi children.

Duties of the "Pet" Sheep.

Out at the abattoir the "pets" among the sheep may be distinguished by their superior height and shapeliness and by the intelligence of their expression. The pets are murderers. In the other pens sheep come and go by thousands to the slaughter, but the pets remain, they are trained to lead their fellows to death, and they do this work well, for they have by reason of their strength, intelligence and beauty a great influence. When the butchers of the abattoir wish to slaughter a flock of sheep, word is passed to the pets, and they indifferently, calmly saunter in among the flock, gain their confidence and esteem, and then take their places at their head and lead them to the slaughter-house. The bloodstained and murderous pets have more than one unsheep-like quality. They eat pretzels and pie and drink beer. [Philadelphia Record.]

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Gen. H. A. Pierce representing Col. Griffith J. Griffith, appeared before the Park Commission with reference to charges of mismanagement. Nothing of a sensational nature was brought out.

Mrs. Jane Fredericks, who has an idea there is a conspiracy to kill her son in a railroad wreck, was sent to the asylum yesterday.

Emile Matray has sued the Traction Company for damage on account of a trolley wreck.

Justice Austin was all day trying to find a jury to try the Maxwell adultery case. Justice Morgan's time was taken up with battery and other misdemeanor cases.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PEACE WITH HONOR FOR PARK BOARD.

GRIFFITH PARK FAILS TO YIELD A FAMILY SKELETON.

Col. Griffith and Commission Retire from Field of Argument—Exhibits Filed by Donor of Park Showing What Has Been Done.

Los Angeles still numbers Griffith Park among its possessions.

Col. Griffith, the donor, and the Park Commission have divided the victory. Honors are about even. No blood has been shed.

The denouement in this cause came at the regular session of the Park Commission yesterday was like the finale of a French duel. There was a lot of red tape and preliminary fiddling at the opening of the session, but at the close the representative of Col. Griffith and the Park Commissioners were congratulating each other on their escape with honor.

After all the horrible threats and accusations that have been flying around concerning the management of Griffith Park, friends of all parties consider the result fortunate. Mayor Snyder took strenuous measures to woo the fluttering white dove and whenever a commissioner or Gen. Pierce, attorney for Griffith, started to say anything that might lead to a controversy, interposed himself as a violent outburst as a bad cold would permit.

It is true that Dr. Dickinson once said: "Mayor, I don't care at all what you think."

But the Mayor took the gaff resignedly.

At the time the Chief Executive was trying to prevent Dr. Dickinson from voicing some emphatic sentiments about the designs of Col. Griffith, Dr. Dickinson said that he understood the real motive for the attacks of Col. Griffith on the board was his desire to again get possession of the park. He said he could think of no other motive and he insisted that every report presented be made in writing and in preparation for a suit in the courts.

Gen. Pierce emphatically denied that Col. Griffith has any desire to secure the park. He said that the motive of the donor, he said, is to secure the park for the use of the city and that the plan for which it was dedicated, namely, to make of the large tract of land an attractive pleasure resort for the citizens of the city.

Mayor Snyder put a stop to the discussion of this question by declaring that the only question the board could consider was the alleged misappropriation of funds. He said that the Park Commission had nothing to do with the sale of wood made under the authorization of former boards and by the Council, and that the board could not appropriate funds for the improvement of the park, it was worse than a waste of time (even minutes are precious) to make of the large tract of land an attractive pleasure resort for the citizens of the city.

This board recommended that the Council submit a bond issue to the people, you know," he said to the attorney. Proceedings began very tamely with the reading by Superintendent Mendenhall, of a perfectly harmless report, which, to use court phraseology, entered a general denial to the assertions of Griffith, and the more important parts of the report are as follows:

"In reference to the report made last July in the matter of wood cut and sold from Griffith Park, the report was made in a hasty manner and, as I stated at the time, I did not guarantee the correctness of the report, unless I had ample time to go over the various funds of the park department. For the past two years I have not kept side books and do not consider it my duty to compile reports from records kept by some one else."

The superintendent then explained that more than $1000 worth of wood has been sold from Griffith Park and properly accounted for on the books of the department. He explains the system of accounts kept by the city under which it would be possible for money received from the sales of wood to be merged in the "emergency" and other funds, where it would not be shown as revenue from Griffith Park. The report continues:

"In the matter of cutting oak wood in the park I assert that no wood was cut, except for the betterment of the park. I have no knowledge of the cutting of any oak trees, except one small tree in the back hills. No proof has ever been presented to show that oak trees have been cut and sold for wood, and our foreman in the park has never been shown a single stump from which a tree was cut."

A former board passed a resolution instructing the foreman to sell willow wood and dead timber at the rate of $1 a load and this order has been in force several years. At one time the board thought it advisable to cut out all the willows and plant other trees. No landscape gardener would think for a minute of planting willow trees in any respectable park.

In reply to strictures regarding the amount of money spent in improving the park the superintendent states that since March, 1898, one man has been continuously employed in patrolling and caring for the park; that a force of men has been employed the past summer in surveying a scenic road through the hills, and that the cost since March, 1898, has been about $5000.

Foreman George N. Rockwood of the park declared that he had it from a Mexican friend of the Mexicans who made affidavit to the removal of wood from the park that they did not know how much wood they had taken or when. The affidavits give amounts and dates.

Gen. Pierce stated that the board was welcome to bring the Mexicans to the City Hall and examine them under oath. Mayor Snyder started the discussion of the dangerous ground.

Gen. Pierce referred to the hauling of sand and gravel from the park, the horses and the sale of wood. He declared that Col. Griffith thought he might as well have made the revenue from the park as to have the city do so, if the tract was to be devoted purely to such purposes.

It was shown that Gen. Pierce himself had once secured an order for wood from the park, and that no money had ever been paid into the treasury for the necessary permits to take the wood. Gen. Pierce explained that he had secured the order to get props for his orange orchard, but that he had never used it and had let it expire. He said that he had secured the order from the park, but that he had never used it and had let it expire.

The hearing ended with the filing by Gen. Pierce of six photographs taken in the park as exhibits. The first shows Col. Griffith standing with bowed and uncovered head in a cove of willow wood, his white linen duster brought into effective relief by the umbrageous shadows, gazing intently at two stumps. The picture is entitled, "Col. Griffith, dairy in the park."

Picture No. 2 bears the legend, "A public office in a cemetery on Fort Hill displays five amiable boys cove inside a small yard industriously chewing their cud. It is a picture of what is termed the 'Keeper's dairy' in the park."

A picture of four burros of different sizes is entitled, "Grazing and raising burros in the park, as shown by the 'Keeper's dairy' in the park."

"Pasture fields and a tenant's house in the park, and Hauling gravel and sand out of Griffith Park at 10 cents a load."

"Col. Griffith gives thanks to the board on his compliments," said Gen. Pierce.

"Thanks," replied the Mayor. Then followed a little handshaking and the case was closed. The Mayor said "see a man," and the rest of the board took up other business.

CARE OF GRAVEYARD.

A committee from the Society of Pioneers made a powerful plea for better care of the old cemetery on Fort Hill near the High School. In the end the board recommended to the Council that the cemetery be acquired and dedicated as a public park.

Dr. Wise enumerated instances of vandalism and declared it a shame that such things were allowed to be. He declared that the park has been put to all sorts of vile uses, and entreated the board to take action to prevent it. He was praised for appointing a man to guard the graves, and Dr. Wise stated that he had good reason to believe that the cemetery was being used for other purposes.

He reverted to the graveyards still maintained in the center of such large cities as Paris, Vienna, Berlin, New York and Philadelphia, and to the perfect care given these abiding places of what is given of those that walked the earth hundreds of years ago. He asked that men and teams be put at work renovating the cemetery and transforming it into a park worthy memorial to the dead pioneers.

It was explained that the Park Board had been authorized to secure plans for the proposed cemetery and that the most that could be done was to ask the Council to grant the request. This was done on motion of Dr. Dickinson.

The Committee on Improvements in Central Park was authorized to secure plans for the proposed cemetery and that the most that could be done was to ask the Council to grant the request. This was done on motion of Dr. Dickinson.

Income and Outgo.

City Treasurer Workman's report for October shows that $155,591.51 was received and $225,752.54 expended during the month. The balance in the treasury the last day of the month was $145,583.

AT THE COURT HOUSE.

WROTE HER TROUBLES TO THE PRESIDENT.

PITIFUL DELUSION OF AN INSANE WOMAN IN COURT.

Her Husband Was Killed in Railroad Wreck and She Imagines Conspiracy to Make Son Suffer Same Fate—Brickmakers at War.

A little, tired woman, with a broken heart, was sent to the insane asylum yesterday. Her name is Mrs. Jane Fredericks.

Last winter her husband was killed in a railroad wreck in Mexico, and she had to go out to housework to support her young son.

The boy is in a boarding school in Mexico. She wants him to come home to her, but has an insane, terrified fancy that a gang of ruffians have joined a conspiracy to wreck the train and kill him, as his father was killed, if he starts.

She has written barrels of letters in an attempt to thwart the imaginary conspiracy. She wrote reams of aimless stuff to the President of the United States, imploring his assistance.

When she was brought before the insane commissioner yesterday, she talked on and on in an aimless, monotonous voice about her boy and the "gang." She begged Judge Smith not to have her locked up where the boy couldn't see her when he came home.

Too much study at school and too hard work on a farm were the cause of a boy named A. Carruthers being sent to the asylum yesterday.

There were two girls at school whom he was trying to excel in his studies, and only 15, and the strain was too severe.

He went home three or four weeks ago, acting very queerly. Since then he has been violent, so that it has taken two or three men to hold him. He seems to have no particular delusions.

BRICKMAKERS' WAR.

PARTNERSHIP SQUABBLE.

C. E. Norton has sued C. Forrester and Frank C. Young to settle a partnership row of the Western Brick Company.

Norton claims that he advanced $1500 to defendants to start the brick company, with the understanding that C. Forrester was to attend to the expert manufacture of brick, and Young was to sell the bricks.

Through neglect, allowed a great quantity of brick to be spoiled, and is now neglecting to fire a large quantity of brick which he has taken out of the kiln unless something is done. There is also a difficulty in regard to certain machinery.

"Plaintiff asks that a receiver be appointed."

BROKEN COLLAR BONE.

TROLLEY DAMAGE SUIT FILED.

At dusk on September 23, there was a trolley smash-up at Hill and Eleventh streets; the sequel was a damage suit against the Los Angeles Traction Company, filed yesterday.

The plaintiff, Emile Matray, claims that the wagon he was driving was smashed, his horse ruined, and his own collarbone and a rib broken. He asks for $10,000 damages.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

MAXWELL ON TRIAL FOR ADULTERY.

HARD TO FIND JURY THAT IS WITHOUT SCRUPLES.

Charming Mrs. Cheney Writes That She Still Loves Her Honey Boy—A Mixed-Up Battery Case—Jose Ybarra's Battle—"Bell-hop" in Trouble.

Bert Maxwell, the fascinating young barkeeper who eloped from Chicago with the handsome wife of his friend, Anton Cheney, and set up housekeeping with her in Los Angeles, appeared in Justice Austin's court yesterday, for the charge of adultery and adultery.

The entire day was spent in the effort of procuring a jury, difficulty being had in this respect, because most of the talesmen examined confessed that they had been guilty of adultery with an unmarried man of such an offense.

"I would not send a single man to jail for living with a pretty woman who loved him better than she loved her husband," said the judge.

The case was postponed for jury service appeared to be pretty much of the same opinion. All were excused by the court, although "High Wire" Allender, who is attorney for the defendant, expressed his willingness to accept them.

Mrs. Cheney who was followed to Los Angeles by her husband and arrested at his instance, returned with him to Chicago, Cheney being willing to forgive her, and the court remitting her fine of $200 on condition that she would go and sin no more.

Since returning to Chicago, however, she has written to her husband, who remained in jail here, pending trial, asking him of the constancy of her affections for him, and promising to rejoin him as soon as she escapes from the meshes of the law. A package of her burning love letters will form part of the evidence in the case.

Maxwell was employed at the Hotel Van Nuys bar at the time of his arrest, and prior to that had kept bar at the Metropole Hotel, Avalon. Before coming to California he was employed with Cheney at the Palace Hotel, Chicago, and roomed at Cheney's house. After he emigrated to the Coast, Cheney allowed his wife to visit Southern California for the benefit of her health.

Here she renewed her acquaintance with Maxwell, and was persuaded by him to forsake her husband and become Mrs. Maxwell by brevet.

Maxwell's trial will probably be held today. Eleven jurors had been accepted when court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

MIXED-UP SALOON ROW.

CULPRITS EQUALLY CULPABLE.

Arthur Fava, an Italian barkeeper, and Deputy Constable J. S. Redona shared honors yesterday for the star parts and made the complicated case in the Police Court yesterday. The costs were $5 each, but they had lots of fun for their money.

Fava and Redona were not the only actors in the comedy, but they played the star parts and made the complicated case in the Police Court yesterday. The costs were $5 each, but they had lots of fun for their money.

played as barkeeper. Redona came into the place and called up a number of friends to drink with him. The named Oliveras, who never misses an opportunity to get a free drink, was invited, although he was not specially invited. Oliveras already had a pretty comfortable jag on, and Redona refused to let him drink any more.

This brought Fava around from behind the bar, and he gave Redona to understand that if any customers of the saloon were drinking, he would not let them drink any more. He told the matter himself to the child Redona for knocking down Oliveras.

An altercation ensued between Redona and the barkeeper, who sometimes employs Oliveras, and the complaint was exchanged would not look well in print. B. Solomon, a second-hand tailor and clothes-bearer, who sometimes employs Oliveras, tried to intervene.

Redona then flashed his deputy constable's star on Fava and told him to consider himself under arrest. Fava laughed at the pretensions, exhibited his revolver, and the two men exchanged blows.

The deputy constable eventually succeeded in calling the patrol wagon by telephone, and the officer in charge took both Redona and Fava to the station.

Fava was complained against by Redona for disturbing the peace, and Oliveras complained against Redona for battery. This occasion he stole a boy's coat and vest.

"Why did you steal the clothes?" asked the court.

"I stole them, unless it's because I'm a natural-born thief," was the careless reply. Then the judge reached for his pen and entered a sentence that will reach away into the new year.

Natural-born Thief.

J. F. Farley will do a ninety-day stunt on the chain gang for petty larceny. It will not be a new experience for him, for on this occasion he stole a boy's coat and vest.

"Why did you steal the clothes?" asked the court.

"I stole them, unless it's because I'm a natural-born thief," was the careless reply. Then the judge reached for his pen and entered a sentence that will reach away into the new year.

Police Court Notes.

Mrs. Sin Fook was fined $25 yesterday by Justice Morgan for being found with lottery tickets in her possession.

Charles Galli and D. Taix had an altercation over some property rights, Galli smote Taix upon a tender portion of his anatomy whereupon Taix had Galli arrested for battery.

The Chinaman, who had been charged with the murder of a woman, was yesterday taken to the County Jail for a postmortem of the case was had the 13th inst.

of Hazard's Pavilion, last Tuesday evening just prior to the boxing matches. A hole in the roof where a sheet of corrugated iron had been removed from its fastening, seemed to suggest their manner of ingress. On the assumption that they had made the hole in the roof in order to get a free view of the prize fights, the youths were taken into custody for malicious mischief. No one saw them break in, and the court, probably sympathizing with their interest in the many art, adjudged them not guilty, but admonished them to be careful about the kind of passes to the prize fights they availed themselves of in the future.

Natural-born Thief.

J. F. Farley will do a ninety-day stunt on the chain gang for petty larceny. It will not be a new experience for him, for on this occasion he stole a boy's coat and vest.

"Why did you steal the clothes?" asked the court.

"I stole them, unless it's because I'm a natural-born thief," was the careless reply. Then the judge reached for his pen and entered a sentence that will reach away into the new year.

Goat Lymph

The most wonderful medical discovery of the age, administered by the German Physician, Dr. Gross, of the Anglo-American doctors.

There is a great deal of medical misinformation among the medical profession, as shown by the following: In the first place, it will state broadly that the lymph is not a patent medicine, it is not a secret preparation. It is merely a natural product, just as the same name signifies. Within its therapeutic it has accomplished all, and more, than was expected. For instance, we know the record of hundreds of successful cases that the lymph is a remedy in such diseases as locomotor ataxia, chronic articular rheumatism, agues, hemiplegia, primary dementia and kindred troubles. Along these remarkable cures have been effected.

It Successfully Combats Old Age.

One of its greatest fields is in the treatment of diseases incident to old age. It is a strong invigorant and restorative, and even in cases where the patient is in a state of extreme debility, it restores the functions of youth. I don't mean to say that it makes old people young, but it does make them feel young, and it brings back to an astonishing degree the powers and vigor of youth.

It reconstructs and revitalizes the degenerated cell structure. It is the most powerful and effective curative agent modern medicine has produced.

SHOW FOLK ENRICH SISTERS' HOSPITAL.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE AT BURBANK A GREAT SUCCESS.

Soul-stirring Shakespeare. Beautiful Music and Merry Vaudeville Given Before Large Audience by Best Artists in Los Angeles.

A conservative estimate places the sum made by the benefit performance for the Sisters' Hospital at about $1100. The Burbank was packed to the doors yesterday afternoon, and many of the seats were sold several times, charitable people taking this means of increasing the receipts. H. S. Duffield, stage manager, and Lawrence Hanley, the noted Shakespearean actor, had the programme in hand, and are to be congratulated on the success that attended their efforts.

There is one curious thing about this entertainment which is worthy of special note in these condensed days of frivolity. The programme was vaudeville—vaudeville of the airiest, flimsiest, merriest kind—and Shakespeare! There's a jump which compasses the whole gamut of the theater from A to Z. Twelve vaudeville turns to Shakespeare

A Use for Everything

Nothing Yet Ever Created
Without a Purpose.

A Theory Difficult to Believe in Some Instances.

Many Think Nature Might Have Been Improved Upon in Many Ways.

We all wonder why certain things were ever made, why certain animals or insects were allowed to live, and yet there is no doubt but that everything was intended for some purpose, and as civilization advances, such purposes are discovered.

Cod liver oil is something that everybody knows has been a wise provision of Providence, to be used as a medicine in all wasting diseases. Why Nature should have appointed to this valuable remedy its horrible odor and most terrible taste is also something that many have wondered at. But that was Nature's way, she gave us man the crude material, and has left it to his intelligence to overcome many of its objectionable features.

This is exactly what has happened in regard to cod liver oil. Everybody knows its value. Everybody knows how necessary it is for physicians to prescribe it in many instances. Everybody also knows that it is one of the most terrible medicines to take what can be imagined. There is no longer need of taking it, that is, in the form in which we have been accustomed to have it.

Mr. C. V. Baxter of the Great Drug Co. of this city, has associated himself with a Boston house which is producing a preparation known as Vinol—Wine of Cod Liver Oil. This is not a fat cod medicine. Anyone may see, on the label of each bottle, or Mr. Baxter will tell anyone who calls on him, exactly what Vinol contains. As he explained yesterday: "We have simply found out how to extract the active medicinal principles from the cod liver that made cod liver oil valuable. This we may obtain in the form of a concentrated extract. The grease, with all its vile odor, is left behind. The oil, has its purpose. It is valuable for dressing leather, but as for its being in any way good for man as a medicine, it is absolutely worthless."

"Now we take the medicine that we have obtained, or the concentrated medicinal properties of the cod liver, and place just the right quantity of this extract in a delicious, mild table wine, and there you have the whole story. Anyone can learn in a minute that Vinol is not a fat cod medicine. It is compelled to take cod liver oil can find out in a few days how much more benefit can be derived from Vinol than could ever have been obtained from cod liver oil in its crude form."

Mr. Baxter's enthusiasm in regard to Vinol is indeed well founded. The preparation, which he is handling with so much heartiness, is one of the best known in the world.

A LURKING DANGER!

DANGER lurks in every ache of the back. Don't be deceived by backache. Don't mistake its meaning. Don't fail to realize the serious side of a "bad back."

The pains and aches of a "bad back" are many and varied—sharp stitches—severe twitches—acute twinges of pain—slow exhaustive aches. The back is tired, is lame and weak.

The "danger in it" comes from the kidneys, for most backache pains are but kidney ills. Backache tells of a kidney-blockade. The delicate little kidney filters are clogged and warn you through the back. Go to the assistance of the kidneys when they "cry for help." Don't experiment—take DANGER is near at hand when the kidneys are sick. The urinary discharges tell the kidneys' condition. "A brickdust" like deposit in the urine, or when too highly colored, too frequent in passage, irregular in any way, neglect is serious.

Board of Education spoke briefly. He said, in part: "Twenty thousand of our future citizens are being trained in the schools of Los Angeles today. This awakening of parents, as evidenced by the work of the Child Study Circle is vital to the cause of true education. People are swarming into our cities, so that in a few years, if this keeps on, only a half hour a day, and Sunday-school never."

TEACHER'S STANDPOINT.
Miss Mary S. Murphy, from the standpoint of the teacher, explained the difficulty of dealing with the heterogeneous gathering to be found in the schools, where no caste is recognized, and the impossibility of obtaining satisfactory results without the study of the individual and the cooperation of the home and the school.

MOTHERS' VIEW.
For the mother, Mrs. Charles P. Squires spoke briefly and well. She said: "When, through the mystery of birth, God entrusts a human soul to any man and woman, this trust is the highest call to train that soul aright. No other call is so distinct and unmistakable as that which comes through parenthood. 'Given of God' is written on the forehead of every little child, were we clear-eyed enough to see it. We know that character does not come by chance—it is wrought out; and that, with a vigorous physical nature, is the only thing that we can give our children."

FATHER'S SIDE.
The point of view of the father was discussed by M. C. Bettinger, who believed that out of the many fads and follies that have been brought forward during late years in the care of the education of children, the Child Study Circle was perhaps the first to introduce practical and natural methods. "Most of these theories," he said, "have acted only as a sort of specific, because founded on hobbies, and when they have failed, as we have signed in relief that another fad has had its day."

"Under the real child study it is recognized that it is the individuality and individuality of each child that is the paramount thing to be dealt with in its education. The child's individuality must be individually aided in its development, rather than rigidly moulded by the will of another. By combining the results of the study of children by parents and the study of the child and the work of the teacher, the hitherto missing factor in their education is provided."

He emphasized the impossibility of treating every child by the same methods by quoting the difference in his own three boys, one of whom, he said, like school better than anything else, another who goes because he has to, and a third, who said he wished "school

S. A. Philbrick of 1935 Sacramento St. says: "Attacks of kidney complaint and headache have clung to me persistently for at least twenty years, but latterly they were of longer duration and more acute. Before I went to Dean's Drug store, corner of Second and Spring streets, for Doan's Kidney Pills I had an attack similar to many of its predecessors. I noticed the direct action of the pills on the kidney secretions and a continuation of the treatment positively stopped the attack long before I expected it."

Spring Street
John S. Burleson of 610 1/2 Spring St., starter in the American Steam Laundry, says: "I knew about Doan's Kidney Pills six years ago when I lived in Rochester, N. Y., and probably if I had taken a course of the treatment at that time it might have prevented a considerable amount of annoyance. I noticed then and at different times since that the action of the kidney secretions was not right, as they were off-color and contained a sediment. For the last two years backache existed, at times very painful, and the complication caused considerable anxiety, and finally forced me to be on the outlook for some means to check it. An advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills brought to my recollection the fact that that preparation was well known in the East, and I went to Dean's Drug Store for a box of helped and I sought a second. It did not require a third, for the backache stopped and the kidney secretions became normal."

GOVERNOR ROSS OFF FOR THE YUKON.
CANADIAN EXECUTIVE'S HEALTH PRACTICALLY RESTORED.

His Departure for the Frozen North Hastened by Disquieting Political Rumors—Question of Religion Enters Somewhat Into His Campaign.

Gov. Ross of the Yukon Territory, British America, who had been a patient in the Good Samaritan Hospital for three weeks, left for the north at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, very much improved in health.

His Excellency's departure was hastened by reading in the Times that his political advisers had been making capital of his illness and prolonged absence. The Governor came to Los Angeles for rest and recuperation and had both his rest and recuperation disturbed by the state of his political affairs.

WEAK KIDNEYS AND BLADDER TROUBLE
Had to Pass Water Very Often Day and Night,
Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.
About two years ago I had a very severe case of kidney and bladder trouble. The pain in the small of my back was so severe that I could not stand it to stay in one position more than a moment or two, and was obliged to pass water very often day and night. I tried medicines and doctors, but to no avail. I was told to get a bottle of Swamp-Root. I bought a bottle and took it. The pain and frequent desire to pass water ceased. That was over a year ago and I have had no return of the trouble since.

A. H. Rooney
Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for more sickness and suffering than any other disease, therefore, when through neglect or other cause, kidney trouble is permitted to continue, fatal results are sure to follow.
